It is supposed to have next June an ordinance will be passbeen on for several months past, but ed limiting saloons to certain localiit wasn't. A few licenses were re- ties, as frame houses are now limited voked, but a great many were not, to certain localities. The boundaries and a few places were known to be doing a good business every Sunday.

The board of aldermen last Thursday not only refused to grant seven saloon keepers a license, but also announced that it would renew the license of no saloon keeper who is know," said Police Commissioner convicted, or any of whose employes are convicted, for violation of the or doing service as a weight on the law in connection with the business 'lid.' Of course 'there was some between now and June, when the license have to be renewed.

This has had the effect of "scaring probably bought the night before 'em up," and yesterday it is said that this proposition of Sunday closing is the lid was on in earnest. It is understood that the police commissioners have ordered that the law . be strictly enforced on Sunday, and that they mean it.

Yesterday a man from Mayfield was arrested with a bottle of liquor, and he said he bought it at the Goodman place, but did not know from whom he bought it. It is said the officers secured seven bottles in all with the label of the company on it, to use as ev.dence.

It is understood that Chief Collins has issued orders to all patrolmen to watch for suspicious bundles and bottles on Sunday, and to take in every man when they can see has been drinking, and compel him to disclose where he secured his liquor.

It is also reported the saloon men themselves are largely responsible for the lid's being on yesterday, as they are afraid they will be refused a license next June if they run any more

Mayor Yeiser has revoked a few license during the past year, but the saloon man, under this procedure, was always able to re-enter business by applying for another license and paying extra for it, and promising to be good. From sources very close to the powers that be in the council boards it is learned that the tax rate for this year will, in all probability be $1.60 and probably $1.65.

The members have been giving the matter close study, and while the assessment totals are not at hand, it is estimated, from the information they now have in hand, that it will take a tax rate of $1.65 to do what the boards wish.

From very reliable sources it is given out that the boards will probably turn down the street car company proposition for lighting the streets and fix up the city's plant, clant, and if this is done, it will recondition. The boards want to do ing a park site, or probably two, for the city, and an appropriation for this will have to be made.

The boards do not contemplate any other new appropriations, but on the buildings would start very want to have sufficient funds with ONE MAN BURNED TO DEATH which to take care of the imperative plant ready for operation about the needs of the city, in every department, as they may develop.

NEW ICE FACTORY PROJECT.

The annual election of directors of the Commercial club will be held at the club Tuesday night at 7:30, and the officials desire as many members as possibly can, to attend.

After the election of the directors the new board will hold a meeting probably this week to elect its officials, president, vice-president and

He has made a most excellent official, and has done splendid work for the city and club.

Big Concern Desires to Come Here.

A representative of a large manufacturing concern of Minneapolis met with the directors and some members of the Commercial club today at 2 o'clock to consider a proposition from this company for the lo cation of a plant in Paducah.

The company manufactures metal wheels, toy wagons and kindred lines and would employ, at first, 400 hands with the probabilities of an increase, it is said, in five years, to 2,000 em ployes. It is the biggest proposition the Commercial club has had for some time, but whether anything can be done with it remains to be seen.

The company wants a free site and a big sum of money as a bonus for locating the plant here, and the club is to consider whether or not is thinks it can be raised.

Ice Factory to Be Started Soon.

George A. Morris of St. Louis, is quire an appropriation of $20,000 to at The Lagomarsino Hotel. Mr. put the city's electric plant in good Morris is promoting the proposed new ice factory for Paducah, and is something this year towards secur- here to hold a final consultation with local men who are taking an interest in the project. It was given out today that all the arrangements have about consummated, and that work soon. It is proposed to have the 1st of June. It will have a daily capacity of 100 tons of ice, and the promoters already have orders for over 65 tons a day.

The company has contracts from over 500 consumers, it claims, for five years, and will sell its produci at 25c per 100 pounds. The present price of ice is 40c per 100 at retail.

The company will be incorporated under the name of the Consumers Ice Co., and will have a cold storage plant in connection. It will probably secure the building now used by the Southern Peanut Co. on South First street.

Local people will be interested to the extent of $30,000, and the company will be capitalized at $100,000.

Ten Days to Complete Hotel Deal? Mr. Jos. L. Friedman left yesterday for Chicago to consummate the sale of the Palmer Hotel and Kentucky theatre to Chicago interests.

"It will take about ten days to close up all the details of the sale," he said yesterday, "but we expect to be ready to begin the work of remodeling the hotel in a very few weeks. Another story will be added to the building, the old building will be gutted, and a modern hotel made of the structure. It will be handsomely furnished throughout and will be, in every way, a hotel befitting Paducah."

The plans of the new company which will take over the hotel and the theatre properties, include an annex on the site of the theatre at some future date, but for the present, it is thought, that with the one-story addition to the present building, the hotel will be large enough for a few years yet.

TO DISTRIBUTE $2,000

Order Received Today in the Kirkland Bankrupt Case.

An order in the bankrupt matter of George W. Kirkland, of Fulton, was received this morning by Federal Clerk J. R. Puryear.

The order is for the distribution of about $2,000 and the case has been hanging fire on account of one action taken by Referee E. W. Bagby. It seems that the Owensboro Wagon Co., had filed a claim and exceptions to it were fled. Referee Eagby treated the briefs filed as a petition for review and the court held that he had been too indulgent with the wagon company in treating the briefs as such, and ordered that the distribution be made without further delay. This will cut the claim of the wagon company down considerably.

> The body was floating face downward with one arm projecting above the water. A new derby hat was pulled tight over the head and frozen, necessitating force in pulling it off. The hands were slightly shriv eled and the body had begun to bloat, but was in an excellent state of preservation.

The only object found to lead to dentification was a letter found in the coat pocket addressed to Chas. Marie, and signed Burns Garner, 1015 Jones street. It was dated several days back and the writer had stuck it in his pocket and evidently failed to mail it. At first it was sup posed to have been a letter received by the drowned man, it being loose with no envelope, and a telephone message to the residence of Mr. Will:am Aday at 1015 Jones, where Garner boarded, resulted in identifica-

THE USUAL TACTICS.

Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, does not appear to desire that the public know the truth about municipal ownership. He seems willing that the city of Chicago sacrifice everything to a theory, and in carrying out his rule-or-ruin policy, attempts to suppress anything that he thinks might show his people the fallacy of practical municipal ownership in this country. The Chicago Tribune thus describes Mayor Dunne's antics:

"Has Mayor Dunne a moral right to persist indefinitely in making Chicago ridiculous in the eyes of Glasgow and other communities by his childish conduct concerning the so-called Dalrymple report? At his request Glasgow sent Mr. Dalrymple to Chicago to advise about the traction solution. He came and embodied his advice in a brief report which he sent to the mayor. His Honor, not liking its drift, refused to make it public and tried to justify suppression on the claim that Mr. Dalrymple was his personal guest and came at his cost. Finally the city council formally asked the Glasgow council for Mr. Dalrymple's views-meaning his report-on the Chicago traction

"Postponing for the moment a reply to this request, and with the evident purpose of showing Mayor Dunne every possible courtesy, the town clerk of Glasgow has now notified him of its receipt and asked if there are any real reasons for further secrecy in the matter. The town clerk's letter states that the original request for Mr. Dalrymple's aid was understood to be made in behalf, not ' of any private individual, but of the city of Chicago; that it was 'fully expected that any report made by' Mr. Dalrymple would be 'accessible not only to the council of Chicago, but to' the council of Glasgow, and that unless Mayor Dunne is 'prepared to submit Mr. Dalrymple's report to the council of Chicago or to show some good reason why it should not be submitted to them or to the members of the Glasgow council, Mr. Dalrymple will be directed to report to the latter body.

"Mayor Dunne's reply is unworthy of his office and of his city. He merely reiterates the claim-trival. even if accurate-that Mr. Dalrymple was his personal guest, and the further claim, undignified at best that the report is his absolute property, because he paid Mr. Dalrymple's expenses, and deprecates its publication unless materially changed. What must Glasgow think of Chicago, judged by this pettifogging treatment of an important public matter? It is to be regretted that the mayor's sense of humor fails before the idea of a private citizen's calling upon a foreign municipality

pauses to inquire:

"How is it that the comic opera concoctors have neglected to drama- have been waxing fat for many ership performances?"

HOW CAN THE CITY DO IT?

The figures given out by the joint the democrats have been doing. light committee of the general council after fully investigating the cost of the city light plant are conclusive, and are a revelation to those who have been trailing about after the municipal ownership will o' the wisp. The members of this committee have thoroughly investigated the city books, and the figures they give out are reliable. The members of this committee are Aldermen Palmer, Hubbard and Bell and Councilmen Williamson, Barnett and Katterjohn. Is there a fair-minded man in the city who thinks for a moment that any of these gentlemen would garble the figures, or in any way attempt to deceive the public?

About the only argument that is made to counteract the conclusivefurnish light with the proper men and machinery as cheaply as a corporation; and that is virtually an admission that for ten years past the taxpayers have been ruthlessly robbed by the city; for if the city can furnish lights as cheap as it can get them by private contract, it has for ten years held up the public for more than was necessary.

Municipal ownership advocates do not attempt to explain why the city has not been furnishing lights as cheap as it can get them by private contract, nor do they attempt to explain how the city intends to reduce the expenses of the light plant now, and at the same time give the people more lights and a better quality of light than they are getting.

If the city can do it, how can it do it? Suppose it installs better machinery, how much will it save. and how will it save it? Will it require any less men to run the plant? Will it require any less fuel, less attention, less material, less labor?

New machinery would give us more lights and better lights, but how would it reduce the expenses of the plant so as to make the lights cost $63 instead of $84?

The situation is now this: It is admitted that the city has been paying more for lights than it can get them for now by private contract. The sentimentalists who want the city to continue to operate its light plant for the sole purpose of being able to say that the city owns its own light plant, simply say "We have been paying too much for lights, we admit, but we can furnish them as cheap as the other fellow." This is a good argument for the city's continuing to operate its plant, provided those who offer it can make good. Let them demonstrate how they intend to do it, and everybody will then be satisfied to have the city continue to operate its plant. All greatest number of lights at the least possible cost. But the people want no four-flush-

The mayor does not appear to consider the question of his own eigibility and that of a member of the board of public works, parallel. Perhaps they are not, but it will require some tall hair-splitting to determine the difference. He claims his res:dence is on North Fourth street, and the other official claims his is on Broadway. The mayor actually lives eight or nine months in Arcadia in what he calls his "summer home," and the other official has built a home a short distance this side of the mayor's "summer home," and intends to reside there at least a part of the time, probably in the summer. They both intend to claim their residence in the city, and to vote from the precinct in which they claim their residence. If this is not their legal residence, then the law which permits them to vote from the precinct is entirely wrong. The mayor's case is really worse than that of the board of works member, for the charter explicitly stipulates that officers elected by the people shall "actually reside" inside the corporate limits, and declares that an official forfeits his office when he ceases to reside inside the corporate limits. The mayor is all right in many respects, but when it comes to his legal, opinions-spare us!

It is said that the city has been paying more for many supplies than the same supplies could have been

> Well, the city solicitor will decide that Mr. S. A. Fowler is ineligible to remain a member of the board of pub lic works, because Mr. Fowler is to reside part of his time outside the city limits. Perhaps he is, but we are willing to wager ten to one that Mayor Yeiser decides to spend the summer at his Fourth street residence instead of Arcadia this year, as a result of the decision.

If the finance committee of the general council would only give to the public some of the things it is learning from looking over the books and ascertaining what has been charged the city for various things furnished by friends of past adminness of the report is that the city can istrations, the people would readily understand why it cost so much money to run the city and why there was so little to show for it.

CLUES FOUND

INDICATING THAT MRS. MAN-GRUM WAS KILLED IN NASHVILLE.

Combs, Belt and Strip of Silk Found Near a Penitentiary Garbage Chute.

The latest from Nashville in regard to the Mangrum murder is that three side-combs, a belt and a strip of silk dress of some sort have been found near the "chute" of the penitentiary in West Nashville. The chute is a big iron pipe through which garbage is sent to the river. It is now believed that this is where Mrs. Mangrum's body was dumped into the Cumberland river, although one thing that still puzzles the police is how the body got over the falls at Lock A without being mangled. Some contend that it could have gone over without injury and others declare that it could not.

The convicts at the penitentiary remember seeing fresh tracks near the chute December 15th, the morning after Mrs. Mangrum disappeared, and the combs were picked up nearby leld; of Cedro, W. Va. The combs are said to be those worn by Mrs. Mangrum, or ones similar. The fact that Mrs. Mangrum has never been traced out of Nashvills inclines the authorities to believe that she was murdered there.

It is announced that Eddie Gilligan, captain and first baseman for the Paducah Kitty league team last season, has signed with Dayton, O., for this season, and an investigation will be made with a view to holding him on Paducah's reserve list, as in-

The Paducah association has heard nothing of Gilligan's reported action, but will hold him if possible and if he refuses to secure his release here, will prevent his playing league ball this season.

According to the Cairo papers Gilligan has said all sorts of things about Paducah and the Kitty league. but his friends here do not believe it.

Kitty league team managers are beginning to "smoke up" on their line-up, and are furnishing the press with lists of players from which they expect to draw their pennant-winners.

The Indians' line-up will be the same as last season with a few changes. Land, Bohannan and Potts will be missed from the infield. Piatt will be missed from the box, but Loyd says he will get a team together that will equal the Indians last season, and this is what he has to draw from:

Jim Freeman, better known as Buck" Freeman, the man with the upshoot, who worked so effectively or the Indians, Jackson, Tenn., and in fact every team he has been in during the past four years, has been signed for a permanent position with the Evansville Central league team.

Baseball fans in Princeton Ind., which failed to keep up the gait set by other Kitty league teams last season and consequently caused the early close of the league, is whooping eresting, there being two papers to things for representation in some league again this season. There is talk of forming a "pocket league. There was a balance of a little over $18 left in the Princeton treasury after the business of the season was wound up. Had it not been for the sale of one or two players, Princeton would have come out "in the hole" financially.

What Liquozone Is.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide. Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but heipful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

HAMLIN GARLAND

COPYRIGHT. 1905. BY HAMLIN GARLAND

"It was his pet name for her. Few people knew it. I don't think Louis knows it, for Ann considered the name absurd as she grew older and never refers to it. I think it is a pretty name, don't you?"

"Yes. It is beautiful." His eyes took on a musing look.

Hesper! Somehow the name expressed the poetry of the father's conception, and with little else to do the wounded man gave long hours to recalling and relieving his experiences with her as his nurse.

He longed with a great longing to see her again, but to his curious shyness had been added the humility of one who feels himself unworthy to ask any favor, and the troubled look which came now and again into the lines of his face made Louis sad. The boy idealized him, made of him a wonderful being, better worth serving than any monarch, and in this strain he talked to Ann till she impatiently begged him to

But in her secret heart Ann admitted that she, too, had been touched by the indefinable charm of Raymond's voice and manner, but the question of how best to check his growing power over her brother's life had become a very serious problem. for as the days were on he put her aside as completely as she ignored his

Together Raymond and the boy read the little red book, mapping the points described as best they could-a task of some difficulty, for the traveler had purposely given mythical names to the towns, rivers and peaks. It had all been a wonderland to Philip Rupert. and he took care to have no studid or vulgar name mar the perfect effect.

There was something in all this which refined and softened the young rancher. Joined with his love for "Hesper" (as he loved to call Ann in secret), this boyish father's enthusi asms transmuted every reckless, bitter impulse into stern resolutions to enter upon a new life-a life with purpose and devotion in its course.

last there came a day when the doctor permitted his pa tient to be clothed and seated in an easy chair, and calling Mrs. Barnett to him, Raymond asked, "Do you think Miss Rupert will see me now?"

"I will ask her," replied Jennnette with due appreciation of the romantic

Ann rose to comply, with a little thrill of unpleasant excitement. She did not want to see him, and yet she could not decently refuse.

At the door of the sitting room Mrs.

Raymond sat in a big, padded chair, with his back to the window and the sunlight streaming over his head. He wore a handsome gray dressing gown, and the linen at his neck and wrists was spotlessly clean. His hands were refined-almost delicate in effect-and his clean shaven face and his well brushed, abundant brown hair gave evidence of a most careful toilet. Something mystically solemn and sweet was in his eyes, and his lips trembled as he greeted her. "This is very good of you. Pardon me, won't you? I am forbidden to stand."

"I beg you, do not think of it." "Dare I ask you to be seated? I want to thank you more suitably than I have been able to do for what you did for me."

"Please don't, Mr. Raymond. I assure you I deserve no credit. I went out there under compulsion, and what I did was determined by pressure of circumstances. I'm not a bit of a heroine, and I do not like praise."

He was chilled by her tone and for a moment hesitated. "A sick man may be forgiven some things," he began to say at last. "I may as well confess that I have been longing to sec you. I have been trying for many days to rise and dress in order that I might have you come in. You must let me ask your forgiveness for the rude way in which I received you that day. All that I did seems incredible to me now, like the action of another man."

A gleam of amusement crossed Ann's face. "I didn't blame you. I'm willing to admit that your position was try-

He was too exalted of mood to respond to her quizzical tone. "I had lived for years quite apart from anyfrom association with cultivated peo-ple, and besides I had begun to feei that I was wasting my life and had become irritable. I went to the ranch to pay off a debt, and I-well, I had fallen into a groove. You recalled me to bet ter things."

"I and the bullet," she said rather flippantly, for she was becoming apprehensive of the trend of his confidences

He ignored her interruption, or, rather, he plowed across it with something like his old time resolution. "It is due to you to know-or at any rate I desire you to know -that I am not a fugitive from justice. Baker thought he was

Ann half regretted her action and as she rose said, with a smiling assumption of easy, friendly interest which nurt him worse than anything she had hitherto spoken: "I think it wonderful the way you are coming on. We will see you at dinner in a few days."

"Thank you. I shall be down at the earliest moment," he quietly replied and leaned back in his chair, white and suffering, his eyes closed, his lips quivering.

Ann was well aware that she had not lived up to her higher self in this interview and that she had been cruelly unresponsive and distant with him. 'And yet I don't see how I dould have acted differently," she argued with her better self. "He must not go on thinking me more deeply interested in his life than I really am.

Mrs. Barnett was impatiently waiting for her return.

"What did he say?" she breathlessly asked. "I'm dying to know."

Ann answered with evasive indifference. "He thanked me again for my heroic action and begged pardon for his rudeness, all of which he might have spared himself the trouble of repeating.'

Mrs. Barnett was on the scent for romance. "What else?"

'Nothing else." "Poor fellow! He has been struggling toward this event for days. Only the doctor's express orders kept him from getting up ten days ago. He has been all the morning dressing for it, and now you tell me in that supercilious tone that nothing happened."

Ann fired into anger. "What could happen? - You needn't speak in riddles, Barnett steeped, and the girl walked Jeannette. What do you think should in alone, her face set in lines of cold have happened? Come, now, you silly, omantie thing!" Some note in her voice touched Mrs. Barnett, and she slowly replied: "Ann Rupert, you are the coldest, cruelest creature I ever knew. I know what you did to that poor fellow. You unmercifully snubbed him; you froze his gratitude on his lips. Of course you are ufinitely his superior"-she became weakly sarcastic at this point-"but you are not justified in stabbing a sick man to the heart."

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots. LIFE.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R.V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously duce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as essary. I beg you to desist. I hope you will understand that I am in no sense doubting you."

A shadow of pain crossed his face. Somehow the reality of their meeting was not as he had imagined it.

She, on her part, was angry and displeased with herself and resentful of his implied social equality, and yet he looked the gentieman, and his face was very handsome, very moving in its clear pallor. Suffering had infinitely refined its lines, but she could not forget his services as cook and cowboy, and, besides, she hated being perturbed. She resolutely changed the subject.

efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering aliments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

"I don't know what you mean," said she, feeling vaguely his pain and disouragement-his disillusionment.

"I posed as a farmer and deceived good Don Barnett. I made up for a cowboy and fooled Baker and the rest of the squad. And now I'm posing as an invalid when I ought to be out on the ranch again. It's time I rode away to a new range."

Atlanta Minister Heard By Many in Local Pulpits-W. C. T. U. Red-Letter Day.

NEWS FROM LOCAL PULPITS

Large congregations were present yesterday at the three services held by Evangelist George T. Cates, of Louisville, at the 1st Baptist church, So great was the interest manifested that it was decided to continne the services until Wednesday at ton. least. There were 22 conversions ist night, and 20 additions to the church. There were also a number of professions at the afternoon service which was one of the finest that has been held. The rite of baptism was administered this morning to 10 converts, ail versions at the morning service. Dr John S. Cheek, the pastor, will himself baptize all the converts and wili do it gradually throughout the week. strength yet. He is better after his recent stay at Hot Springs, however.
